Living Well Seminar

Thursday 11 September 2014

We invite you to join us for this unique seminar—Living Well: A patient and health care professional educational event which is being held in Australia for the first time, addressing the challenges for those who have been living with Parkinson's for some time. It will take place in Melbourne over two days, and focuses on two groups:

- People impacted by Parkinson's (11 & 12 Sept) focusing on the needs of people who have had Parkinson's for more than seven years; empowering them with helpful information relating to treatment and lifestyle choices.

Running parallel will be a stream for:

- Health care professionals (11 Sept) who deliver care to people living with Parkinson's. They will be provided with important information regarding treatment options and care challenges.

Join us for this comprehensive program and interact with experts in Parkinson's care. The learning objectives for the Health Care Professional stream include:

- To increase awareness of treatments available for advanced Parkinson's including continuous, complex polypharmacy;
- To identify the spectrum and complexity of motor/non motor/autonomic symptoms encountered in advanced Parkinson's and best practice ways of managing;
- To develop an understanding of the importance of discipline specific interventions and the need for an integrated multi-disciplined approach to managing Parkinson's;
- To increase knowledge of the social and emotional impact which Parkinson's has on the individual and family, and identify supports that can improve health related quality of life.

We also encourage you to tell your clients with Parkinson's about the two day stream for patients and carers running in concurrence (a separate flyer and registration link is available).

Register by 8 September by completing the online registration and payment process at:
